Mystery.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 27.—Fire of mysterious origin starting in a pile of rubbish on the first floor of a 5-story tenement, East 109 street, early this morning, swept the building and caused the death of 12 persons, members of two families on the top floor. Twenty persons were injured and spectacular rescues were made of the 200 in the building. Seven of the dead were members of the family of David Mandelbaum, a painter, who had planned to move today to a little farm up state, which he recently bought. They were Mrs. Mandelbaum and her children, ranging in age from 1 to 16 years. The other dead were Aaron Kuxis, his wife, their daughter, Bertha, the son, David, 18, and a relative, Mrs. Isaac Brownstein, who was visiting them.

City Has Bought a
New Street Sweeper

The city has recently purchased a new motor street sweeper from the Austin-Trotter Road Machine Company at Chicago. The new machine was shipped last Tuesday and will be delivered to the city tomorrow. The machine is similar in type to the one which was bought in 1920, but the new model, however, including a number of improvements and a machine generally being of sturdier build.
The machine which the city purchased in 1920 cost $6,500. In the purchase recently made the company took back the present worn-out sweeper, allowing $2,750. This deduced from the purchase price of the new model, which is $6,750, makes the motor road sweeper available to the city for $4,000.

Negro Confesses
Crime Few Minutes
Before Electrocution

Boy States 3 Others Under Sentence to Di Had Nothing to Do With Killing of Mail Carrier.

(By The Associated Press)
RALEIGH, N. C., April 27.—Confessing to Solicitor J. A. Powers a few moments before he was led to the death chamber, a Negro boy, Cyril Jones, Onslow county mail carrier, William Harrison, aged 16, colored, was electrocuted today. In his confession, Harrison declared that Frank Dove, George Williams, and Fred Dove, all under death sentence in connection with the killing, had nothing to do with the slaying. Harrison told the collector that he killed the man in order to get his automobile and to escape. He said he was a brother.
The boy, Harrison, was a member of his plans, he said. Solicitor Powers indicated he would recommend commutation for the three other Negroes.
Harrison was led to the death chamber at 10:30. The electricity was turned off at 10:35 and the physician signalled the warder that Harrison was not dead. The current was again applied and in 45 seconds he was dead. The Negro spent his last moments in prayer. Harrison made no statement while being strapped in the chair.

The execution was watched by 40 persons, including one woman. One of the spectators fainted.

Four Negroes
Have Close Call

Four negroes had miraculous escapes last night when a Ford car in which they were riding, was literally demolished in an accident on the Ringsboro road last night. George Stamps, the driver, was the only one of the occupants who sustained any serious injuries. He was badly cut about the face and lost a large amount of blood but last reports today from his home on Doe street were that he was resting comfortably.
From what can be learned the car was being driven at a terrific rate of speed. Stamps drove on one side of the road and the side of the car slung up a telephone pole. The car apparently was hurled bodily about twenty-five feet, being turned completely around when it stopped. It was facing the direction from which it had come. Sergeant J. E. Martin heard the accident and went to the scene. He learned that Stamps had been brought to Danville. He stated this morning that the motor was thrown out of the car and that three Negroes were rushing the front axle badly bent and the machine in general badly twisted and lacerated. The top had collapsed and was lying on the side of the machine. The officer looked over into the car and saw there found a pool of blood. Stamps after being slashed by pieces of the wreckage, having dropped over the side unconscious. There is little left of the wrecked car to salvage it is said.

Health Officer Getting Ready For Clean-Up Drive

City Health Officer R. W. Garnett has enlisted the cooperation of the city ministers, the Retail Merchants association and the school authorities in preparing for the annual clean-up campaign which will begin May 7th and last one week. Dr. Garnett is preparing for distribution data on the campaign in which he asks for the assistance of the citizens generally.
Citizens are being asked to tidy up their lots and to get rid of accumulated rubbish which will be called for by the garbage trucks during the week. An extra force of men will be put on during that week.
The cost to the city of garbage collection is no small item, statistics available in the city health office revealed today but it is also true that during the past three years there has been a steady reduction in the cost of operating this highly important city department.
For the first ten months of the fiscal year now closing, 31,378 cubic yards of garbage was removed from the streets of the city and dumped at the city dumps at an average cost of 23 1/2 cents per yard. Further analysis of the figures show that the vast bulk of this refuse was removed by motor trucks, the operation of which is far more economical than by the mule drawn carts. The actual cost of garbage removal by truck per cubic yard was 23 1/2 cents while the cost of garbage removal by the carts was $1.00 per cubic yard. The total cost to the city for the removal of waste by trucks—including labor, fuel, tinning expenses but not, of course, the initial expense in providing the trucks was $14,419.55 while it cost more than $4,000 to move nearly four thousand cubic yards of refuse by the carts.

Slacker Freedom
Fought By Legion

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The executive committee of the District of Columbia Department, American Legion, last night unanimously resolved that it "stands unchangeable in its opposition to the release of so-called political prisoners and protests most earnestly against the granting of pardons or paroles to convicted enemies of the republic."
The meeting was called to consider this protest against the commutation and the picketing of the White House.
Both were denounced, and further investigation into the history and background of the veterans picketing the White House was undertaken.
John Lewis Smith, district commander, presided and was named to lead a committee to present a copy of the leading resolution to President Harding. Another resolution, similar in idea, was passed for transmission by telegram to the national headquarters of the Legion at Indiana-when she failed to return from the theatre which she attended with a girl companion, last evening, Celea Shezick, 16-years-old, was found un-body was attacked. Physicians expressed little hope for her. Every available detective and many plain clothes police were assigned to the case and efforts were made to locate the girl's companion. The girl, a daughter of A. Shezick, tailor is of small stature and detectives say she was unable to understand why she was so severely beaten. Her clothing was torn and bloody. Detectives said she probably lost consciousness from the first blow. As far as they can learn no outcry was heard by any one in that section of the city.

BLIND SOLDIERS SELF SUPPORTING
(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, April 26.—Only 20 per cent. of Germany's 2,547 completely blinded war veterans are without vocations, the federal minister of labor announces. Sixty per cent. have taken up other careers that they followed before being blinded, 12.5 per cent. remained at their former employment, and 7.5 per cent. are occupied in part of the time. Statistics of the year 1920 show that only 21.5 per cent. of the completely blinded at that time were in employment.

SPLENDID SHOW AT THE MAJESTIC

Kaminsky's Orchestra at the Majestic Theatre this week is being praised on all sides. Music lovers state that few orchestras that have been in Danville have ever surpassed it. Certain it is that the Majestic is crowded every night and the orchestra is the big attraction.

Last night there was a splendid feature picture, the Kentucky Derby, a thrilling horse-race, with a smashing finish. It is a picture that will never be forgotten.

Another feature of the program is a picturization of great artists singing for phonograph record companies. This is entitled, "Pictures Immortalized" and is of more than passing interest.

The program of last night will be repeated tonight.

Women Start World War on War

BY HARRY HUNT
(Special to The Bee.)

WASHINGTON, April 27.—American women are on the war path. If you don't believe it, look over the list of organizations in which women are dominant, which have declared war on war.

There are 76 such organizations, working on a national basis. They represent a membership of between 10,000,000 and 50,000,000.

With the issue of America's participation in the world court already placed by President Harding himself in the forefront of questions to be decided by Congress or the people in 1924, with this issue reviving interest in and pressure for America's adherence to the League of Nations, and with 76 national organizations joining in a drive to promote steps for international good will and world peace, the issue of America's international relationships seems certain to be a dominant one in the 1924 presidential and congressional campaigns.

CONCILIATION EFFORT
An effort will be made by the National Council for Prevention of Wars of which Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Republican governor of Pennsylvania, is a leading worker, to consolidate the anti-war sentiment and efforts of all local, state and national organizations committed to that cause.

Adherence to the anti-war cause will be placed above adherence to any political party. The statement of faith to be followed will be the recent declaration by Major General John F. O'Ryan:

"I would be a traitor to my country if I did not do everything in my power to abolish war."

All this is being met by a counter-offensive by the isolationists and big army and navy groups. Already propaganda is under way for a new campaign of "preparedness."

The women meet this by citing that centuries of war have failed to bring peace, and now that women have a voice in shaping public policy it is time to give something else a trial.

International confidence and trust, they suggest, may succeed where only served to breed bitterness and resistance.

IT'S AMERICAN

Mrs. Florence Boeckel, educational secretary of the Council for Prevention of Wars, says:

"The definite task of solving the problem of how to abolish war was laid upon the first United States Congress by the General Court of Massachusetts, in a letter signed by Samuel Adams."

"This letter urged Congress to 'take into deep and most serious consideration whether any measures can be used through influence with nations in Europe * * * that national difference may be settled and determined without the necessity of war.'"

THREE PLANS

Three concrete plans are now before America:

ONE—The world court, sponsored by Harding, Hughes and Hoover, which is an outgrowth of the international court of arbitration.

TWO—The League of Nations, including the world court.

LEADERS IN DRIVE FOR WORLD PEACE, MRS. FLORENCE BOECKEL (ABOVE) AND MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT (BELOW).

THREE—The Borah resolution for the outlawry of war, based upon the plan of Salmon O. Levinson of Chicago and the late Senator Knox.

Both Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, woman member of the Republican National Committee, and Mrs. Emily Blair, chairman of the Democratic Women's Committee, since preservation of peace is the most important question before the world.

When a woman loses her head she often finds it on somebody's shoulder.

MITCHELL TRIAL HAS COMMENCED

RICHMOND, Va., April 26.—Trial of John Mitchell, Jr., late president of the Mechanics Savings bank, a colored institution, for alleged speculations of $19,000, was begun in the corporation court here today. There are two indictments against Mitchell, and several of the cashiers and bookkeepers of the bank are also under indictment.

What is a mile to gasoline?

IN frontier days a mile was the radius of a family's activities. Then came roads and carriages, pushing the horizon back a few miles. The next generation discovered the possibilities of the internal combustion motor carried on pneumatic tires. The Chinese wall that shut out so many alluring vistas of the land beyond the hill disappeared. Man had conquered distance.

This year 180,000,000 barrels of gasoline will drive trucks, tractors, launches, planes and motor cars. Every drop that is not converted into power is waste—a loss that cannot be recovered. This company, the pioneer in perfecting petroleum products, offers "Standard" Motor Gasoline as the eventual motor fuel—quick, powerful, uniform and complete-burning.

Guns at Canal Worthless For Defending Zone

Admiral Fullam Declares Money Spent on Them Would Be Dead Waste of Millions.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Instead of spending $72,000,000 for the installation of big guns at the Panama Canal and $6,500,000 for "modernizing" battleships, the United States should invest that amount in aircraft.

That is the opinion of Rear Admiral Fullam, U. S. N., retired, expressed in an interview with Universal Service yesterday.

"The world war taught us the value of aircraft, the submarine, and the comparative worthlessness of the $40,000,000 battleship, yet there is a school of thought in naval circles which would continue erecting battleships to the neglect of the new weapons.

"Let us consider the Panama Canal and Taboga Island, at its eastern entrance. If you put 16-inch guns down there, the installation of them alone will cost nearly $500,000 apiece. The mounting of concrete are especially expensive. These guns will shoot fifteen or twenty miles, so that distance is the range of their effectiveness.

"If an enemy fleet could get close enough to furnish a target for the guns, it could certainly get close enough to release airplanes which would attempt to destroy the guns and the forts, with a fair chance of success. Your guns would be worth about as much as crossbows, and the money spent on them would be dead waste.

"A part of this money put in airplanes and submarines would yield a much greater return in defensive protection. An airplane can drop a 4,000-pound bomb on a battleship and destroy it. Forty millions can be sunk by an instrument costing a few thousand. A high school graduate can see that.

"Besides, speaking of ship targets, why should battleships come within range of sixteen-inch guns when they would have a better chance to make a landing at some undefended coastal point?

"I do not advocate scrapping the eighteen battleships reserved to us under the naval treaty, but I protest against any more new construction at the sacrifice of modern weapons.

"I protest at the expenditure of even $6,500,000 on old battleships, to elevate their guns or for any other purpose. The same sum any other way we may appropriate for airplanes and submarines would give us gold-edge insurance against foreign aggression.

"For a sum entirely within its means, Cuba could construct enough

CIRCUS COMING.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows Here Friday, May 11th.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, world's largest wild animal show, is coming to Danville, Va., coming on Friday May 11th. Early this morning Advertising Car No. 1, with a score and a half of billposters, lithographers and hangers as well as railroad and country bulletins, arrived in the city and shortly after the car was parked the advance forces with their bright, gaudy and gay lithographs started work on heralding the coming of the big circus.

All of the surrounding country-ide will be visited by the advance man as the city proper will also be lithographed and posted with the joyous bills that announce the appearance here of the circus of ten thousand condemners. Another advertising car will arrive within a few days, the several special agents, and the final advance representative will be the 24-hour man, who proceeds the circus exactly one day. He is the man who makes the final arrangements for the coming of the show, getting the lot ready, placing the feed and and food for the one thousand employees and performers, as well as the hundreds of animals. In fact he must have everything ready for the show when the first section pulls into town early on the morning of May 11th.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, despite its enormous size gives a daily free street parade, and the pageant which has been invested several hundred of thousands of dollars is expected to leave the circus grounds at exactly 11 a. m. in the procession in which will be scores of beautiful women, hundreds of prize Kentucky and Belgian Draft horses, and many open dens of wild animals, not to mention five bands of talented musicians, will cover the principal thoroughfares of the city.

Two performances will be given in this city. The afternoon show starting at 2 o'clock, with the night exhibition scheduled for 8 p. m. The doors will open one hour earlier, so that all may visit the menagerie, in which rare and wild animals from all climes and lands will be on exhibition.

Harvey Is Not Expected To Be Campaign Pilot

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Ambassador Harvey's return from London early next month and the question of a leader for the next Republican campaign are being coupled here. The Ambassador unquestionably will be one of President Harding's close advisers but he is not expected to take over Chairmanship of the Republican National Committee.

Neither is Will H. Hays, Chairman in the last campaign, whom Mr. Harding saw yesterday in New York. The confab with Hays and with Charles D. Miller, also former Chairman, and the present Chairman, John T. Adams, was said to be to lay the groundwork for the campaign the leaders to be selected later.

The President is understood to be impressed with the political wisdom of Mr. Miller. There is also some suggestion of Postmaster General New Auler Property Custodian Miller and even Chairman Lusk of the Shuman Board, although he denies it emphatically.

WORLD COURT ISSUE IS LIVE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—With the next few days expected to bring a more definite crystallization of sentiment in Republican ranks on the world court issue, the political aspects of President Harding's unequivocal commitment to the proposal for American participation in his New York address continued today to hold the close attention of party leaders.

"All shades of reaction to the president's firmly spoken adherence to the proposal were manifest soon after his return to the capital yesterday. A preponderance of sentiment among leaders as openly expressed, favored the executive's stand and saw little to fear in the warnings from opposition sources of a party split in the advocacy of American membership in the court was pursued.

There also were suggestions of a compromise on the proposal. In addition to conferences with party leaders yesterday, the president also received expressions of the position he has taken from leaders throughout the country. While administration officials generally appeared well satisfied with the support accorded the president of the issue, some of those who talked with him yesterday came away with the impression that he was not entirely assured as to the possible effect of the opposition expressed. So anxious was the president to avert any schism in the party they said that the situation might possibly lead to cancellation of plans for his western trip.

The president, they pointed out, has emphasized that he wishes to keep politics distinctly in the background on the trip and while arranging for it, has reserved final decision as to whether it would be made until he could feel assured this was possible.

Kinks-o' the Links by PRO

A player is on the putting green about six feet from the cup. A slight shower has fallen and the grass is a little wet. When it is the player's turn to putt, he first addresses the ball and after a wait of a few seconds walks to the rear of the cup and looks over the lay of the green. Then as he reaches the cup, either accidentally or intentionally, he drags the face of his putter along the ground to where his ball is so that he makes a direct line in the wet grass from the ball to the cup. Has the player overstepped his rights in so doing?

The rules specifically state that the line of putt must not be touched, except by placing the club immediately in front of the ball in the act of addressing it. This is a common habit of a great many players prior to making their putt and is permissible. The player certainly overstepped his rights in marking the line of putt and can be penalized by the loss of the hole.

A player's ball while not in casual water, is lying so near to it that it seriously interferes with the player's stance. Must the ball itself be in casual water to be lifted and dropped without penalty, or does the rule apply in the same manner if the casual water interferes with the player's stance?

If the water interferes with the stance of the player the ball may be lifted and dropped without penalty.

With Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which comes to Danville on May 11th for two performances.

Good Morning Judge!

Charles Eames appealed a fine of eleven dollars and costs on a charge of reckless driving as result of an accident on West Main street yesterday afternoon, when his Cadillac machine was in collision with a Ford coupe, driven by Mrs. J. A. Hawkins. The testimony showed that Mrs. Hawkins had just got in her machine and had started to leave the curb and get into the street proper, when Eames came down the street in his machine. Both were going in the same direction and when they were parallel collided in a sidwiping fashion. Both cars were dragged a distance of 37 feet. The Ford was jammed against the curb and the right wheel broken off. Each driver blamed the other but the evidence was such that the court imposed a fine on Eames.

Robert Lee, colored, was fined $21 and costs on a speeding charge. When he was arraigned he protested that the machine would not make over 12 miles per hour. Officers were instructed to give it a test. When they returned they reported twenty-five miles per hour and the fine was imposed.

Emma Harvey was not present to testify against Daisy Whittey, who was charged with taking $35 worth of goods from her and the case was not gone into. The Whitten negroes claimed that some children took the articles from Emma's trunk.

Cases against Ben Richmond, Beria Haymes and Will Ingram, all colored, for violating the Mapp act, were continued until tomorrow.

J. O. Gunn was fined eleven dollars and costs, for violating the traffic ordinance.

C. E. Lester drew a fine of $21 and costs for exceeding the speed limit.

HARRISON HAS SAY ON HARDING

(By The Associated Press)
JACKSON, Miss., April 26.—"I'm glad to see that President Harding has found a plank in the Republican platform and that he is going to try and keep one pledge of his party even if he disrupts it," said Senator Pat Harrison here today after reading the president's address delivered Tuesday in New York.

"It took the president a long time to find a plan," he said, "and after reading the president's speech in which he said that the United States would not enter the League of Nations by the side door or a back door or the cellar door" and that part of it in which he said the party must keep its pledge, I wonder what Mr. Hughes, Mr. Hoover and those thirty-one Republicans who signed the appeal three years ago are thinking. Their appeal to the people was for the election of Harding and Coolidge as the best means of entering the League the surest way. Although the president in his first courageous stand would fix a policy even if it disrupts the party the Democrats are going to help this movement."

STRIKE DELAYS DEPARTURE OF STEAMSHIP

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 26.—Activities of the striking I. W. W. Marine Transport Workers delayed departure for a short time today of the coastwise steamer Henry R. Mallory, with 150 passengers for Key West and Galveston. Harbor conditions otherwise were reported normal.

The Mallory was forced to anchor off the Statue of Liberty when her engine room force quit. The strikers were sent ashore and new men took their places. The voyage then was continued.

Union officials said the strike has gained strength but steamship officials belittled their claims of traffic interruption. Twenty-five stewards on the United States Transport Grant, which will sail tomorrow for the west coast with a Congressional committee, were reported to have waited out today, but new men took their places, it was said.

Officials of the International Seamen's Union, said they would not advise a general strike on May 1 if the union's demands for wage increases of about $15 a month over the present $100 a month were not met. Members would be told to seek employment elsewhere, it was said.

HERE'S JOB FOR HERMIT

THE SACRAMENTO HERMIT'S CABIN

BY A. H. FREDERICK
(Special to The Bee.)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 27.—Add to the list of municipal calamities a departed hermit and an empty hermitage.

For that's the problem that has the city dazed of Sacramento sitting up nights thinking ways and means.

And it gives an opportunity to some volunteer hermit to ward off the blow of a curtailed tourist trade, a true calamity.

It all came about because the "Hermit of Echo Lake" had to give rights when his reputation and drawing power were at their height. Also his stories, which grew and grew until they had reached stupendous proportions.

HE JUST CAME

The hermit was not a municipal project, in the first place. He just came, only he knew from where, and settled himself 90 miles northeast of here in a home-made cabin on the old "gold trail" overlooking Echo Lake, in the Sierra Nevada range.

Rumor said he sought solace in the mountains for a disappointment in love. But be that as it might, he soon became an objective for auto tourists. They traveled miles to hear his stories and home-made philosophy and to see his cabin, built from fallen branches and papered with labels from cans.

But now he is dead, no one has taken his place, and the call has gone out for a successor.

Among the inducements offered applicants are:

An echo—which, of course, is a necessity to any true and authentic hermit.

A one-room house, with unobstructed light and air, and a magnificent view.

Furniture consisting of one bed, one table and a box pantry.

Excellent fishing.

An already established reputation.

Which leaves practically nothing for the applicant to furnish except a blasted life.

INQUIRE INTO COST OF LIQUOR CRAFT CHASERS

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 26.—Inquiries have been made of ship builders, it was learned today, as to the cost of small craft having a guaranteed speed sufficient to overtake the fast vessels used by bootleggers in transferring liquor supplies to shore from the rum fleet off Ambrose Channel.

It was found that such vessels could be turned out by the shipyards at an expense of from $40,000 to $50,000 each. At least a dozen such craft would be necessary to stop the rum running off the Atlantic highlands, it is felt, and inasmuch as no such sum is available for the purpose the prospect of a prohibition fleet adequate for the emergency is considered remote.

To obtain information on the subject of the much advertised rum fleet, Mercer Vernon, assistant to Edward Clifford, assistant secretary of the Treasury, and Lieutenant S. S. Yeandell, commandant of the coast guard, visited rum row yesterday on board the coast guard cutter Manhattan. They found nine mother ships awaiting for shore patrons. Neither Mr. Vernon nor Lieutenant Yeandell would comment upon what they saw.

The utility of expecting the coast guard service to meet the situation with its present resources was emphasized by revelation concerning the construction of fast motor boats in the whole coast guard service there are only four vessels, oil burning cutters that are capable under the best conditions, of making 16 knots an hour. Of these two are off the New Foundland Banks and the other two on the Pacific Coast.

Two seagoing cutters are stationed here, but their patrol extends from Nantucket to the Delaware Breakwater and they are fully occupied with the demands made upon them in connection with wrecks and vessels in distress at sea. The smaller vessels stationed here are all engaged in anchorage and other duty in the harbor and are said to be poorly adapted from the standpoint of hunting violators of the prohibition law, although having been so used with some success.

"I believe that if such a match could be made it would make us both happy," he said.

TROTSKY'S PLAN IS APPROVED

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Committee on Congress adjourned today after approving without change Leon Trotsky's plan to take over the heavy industries. The committee also approved Commissioner Stalin's recommendation on Trotsky's scheme for control of the apparatus and a nameless proposal for the substitution of a permanent secretary for the present one.

In Congress created a central committee of the personnel of each of the departments, and in a closing address Trotsky had demonstrated that there would be no return from the dictatorship of the party.

GEORGE BAKER LOSES FIGHT

ATLANTA, April 25.—George Baker, convicted of the murder of Joseph W. Morton, Walker county Deputy Sheriff, on March 18, 1922, and sentenced to death, lost his fight today for clemency and will be hanged Friday, April 27, Governor Hardwick refusing to grant a commutation to life imprisonment. In the case of Ralph Baker, younger brother of George, who was also sentenced to death for the same crime, the governor commuted the sentence to a life term.

The governor's action was in line with recommendations by the State prison commission. Ralph Baker, according to evidence submitted to the governor, is only 17 years old.

"This young man (George Baker) seems deliberately to have filled himself with mean corn liquor and then with murder in his heart to have threatened without the slightest provocation the lives of at least three other men, immediately before Morton was killed by him and his younger brother," Governor Hardwick said in a review of the case.

An examination of the evidence convinced him, Governor Hardwick declared that George Baker was the aggressor and that youth could not be successfully argued in his behalf, because he was 23 years old when the crime was committed.

Mrs. Dyer's delicious banana ice-cream

2 pt. cans Libby's Milk
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
2 pts. water
6 bananas

Let the milk and water come to boil, add eggs beaten light with sugar. Stir till thick; then let cool and freeze. When it begins to harden, add bananas mashed with 1/2 cup sugar.

7 1/2 teaspoons of butter fat in every 16 oz. can

Mrs. Dyer Says—

"Libby's milk for ice-cream rich and smooth"

Women who really like to cook are invariably good cooks. Mrs. George Dyer of Danville, Va., has a genuine enthusiasm for cooking—and so her results are unusually fine.

One of Mrs. Dyer's specialties is banana ice-cream, the recipe for which is given above. In it and all ice-creams Mrs. Dyer uses Libby's Milk which she says is best of all because it gives such a smooth consistency and richness of flavor.

Good cooks everywhere are using Libby's Milk in all their cooking, because of this very quality. Indeed it is now generally known as "the milk that good cooks use."

7 1/2 teaspoons of butter fat in every can

The reason for its popularity is simply this: there are 7 1/2 teaspoons of pure butter fat in every 16 oz. can of Libby's Milk! And it is butter fat you know that makes butter and cream such great enrichers of food.

You wonder, perhaps, how Libby's Milk can contain so large a percentage of this enriching substance.

As you know, there are certain sections of this country which are famous for their dairy products, where fine pasture lands encompass wooded hills and fresh streams that flow through grassy valleys. Cows naturally produce their finest milk where nature and man combine to help them.

And you know, too, that certain kinds of cows give richer milk than others.

Libby gets milk only from selected herds in these favored sections. Then we make it double rich by evaporating more than half the moisture from it. Nothing is added to it; none of its food values taken away. Libby's Milk is just the finest cow's milk in the land, made double rich, then carefully sealed and sterilized in air-tight cans so you can get it fresh and pure no matter where you live.

Greater richness, finer flavor

Order a can of Libby's Milk from your grocer today. See what new richness, what delightful flavor it gives to your soups and sauces, your cakes, breadstuffs and desserts—to anything you make with it.

You'll actually find new joy in cooking when you've used Libby's Milk and heard what your family and guests will say.

It's here in the stores now—Libby's, "the milk that good cooks use." Try it.

Write for free recipe folder

We have had printed in a convenient folder some exceptionally good recipes sent us by good cooks who use Libby's Milk. You'll find them a fine introduction to the pleasure and economy of using Libby's Milk. Write for a copy today—extra ones for your friends, if you wish. Sent free.

Long-Distance Knitting Contest Safe If There's No Rough Stuff

ATLANTIC CITY, April 26.—Everything is in readiness for the marathon knitting contest, which starts here Friday afternoon promptly at 2 o'clock. The police have promised not to interfere, provided there is no rowdiness or other rough stuff.
 The Drop Stitch Club is sponsoring the contest, which will be held in a local hotel. The girls who are entered are, having daily workouts, spending two hours a morning balling up skeins of yarn. At least one man is expected to enter the contest, provided he can obtain his wife's consent.

Plate Discovery Jars Mormonism

PALMYRA, N. Y., April 26.—The alleged discovery of two metal plates on Mormon Hill, south of this village, which are said to refute entirely many of the tenets of the Mormon faith, has aroused excitement.
 The discovery is said to have been made last Friday by the Rev. Charles E. Driver, a Methodist evangelist, who is holding a series of meetings in the Church of God in this village.
 The plates appear to be of copper. An inscription in Greek is believed by Mr. Driver to conflict with the revelation presented by the Mormons of today. The plates are being closely guarded by the discoverers, who refuse to allow them to be seen.

's Mary Pickford Got $10,000 a Week in 1916

BALTIMORE, April 26.—In the hearing before the Federal Trade commission yesterday on the charges that Famous Players-Lasky Corporation was monopolizing the motion picture industry, it was testified that the firm sold a $10,000,000 stock issue in 1916 to purchase theaters in "key-cities," where it was impossible otherwise to obtain advantageous contracts, and that Mary Pickford's salary in 1916 was $10,000 a week.
 Alexander Lichtman, head of the Al Lichtman Corporation and Preferred Pictures, said on the stand that the producers and distributors of the country had failed to agree on a national distribution plan in 1914 and the Famous Players formed the Paramount Company to distribute their films. In 1916, according to the testimony, Joseph Zukor, president of Famous Players, decided that he was not receiving sufficient money to pay his stars, including Mary Pickford's $10,000. A re-organization of the directors of Paramount followed and W. W. Hodgkinson was voted out of the presidency.

The will, consisting of four paragraphs, is a model of brevity. It contains this clause, explaining why Mr. Fish, who bequeathed everything to his three children, left nothing to charity:

"Having observed and always believed that charitable bequests afford the testator a means of gratifying his vanity at the expense of his heirs, I make none."
 The three children, who are made equal beneficiaries and are also designated executors, are Stuyvesant Fish, Jr.; Sidney Fish and Mrs. Marion Gray.

DEAF AND DUMB

ATLANTA, Ga., April 26.—Three years of laborious effort are represented in a little volume about to be published here for deaf mutes by the Rev. J. W. Michaels, himself entirely deaf and able to speak but a few words intelligibly.
 The book will be distributed free to deaf mutes and to other interested in religious work among this class of unfortunate.

It is a dictionary of the sign language, the universal method of communication employed by deaf mutes. It contains 28,000 words, phrases and sentences which may be expressed in the sign language, with illustrations showing the proper sign for each. Michaels, now 72, says he wrote only to live long enough to see a copy of his book in every American home that needs it.

A IDEA FOR BETTER SATURDAY
ICE SERVICE

Danville has an ice problem coming this summer and one which might just as well be reckoned with now as when the hot season is here. It has been learned authoritatively that the Danville Ice Company does not intend to include two deliveries of this much needed product on Saturday in its schedule of operations and that conditions which are to prevail will be precisely similar to those which obtained last year.

We believe we express an urgent and heartfelt wish on the part of hundreds of Danville people in bespeaking a better Saturday service for the public from which the concern derives a monetary return. We are not unmindful of the improvements which have been made, especially more recently by the ice company, the production of better ice, the enlargement of storage facilities rendering remote any ice famine in this city at the height of summer—but these do not weigh against the almost imperative need of a delivery system which will permit the securing of ice in sufficient quantity to carry the average household over the week-end and render unnecessary the troublesome expedient of the Sunday journey to the plant and the home-ward trek with the melting cake. While it is true that the popularization of the automobile makes it a comparatively simple matter for the householder who owns a machine to secure ice on Sunday without much trouble, it should be borne in mind that this class is possibly restricted to those whose means permit them to have types of refrigerator which will carry an abundance of ice or ample to carry the family over the week-end. There are hundreds of people whose ice boxes and refrigerators will not hold enough ice and it is in their belief that we raise a voice of kindly remonstrance to the single Saturday delivery.

A Saturday afternoon or night delivery of ice will meet what is conceived in many quarters to be a pressing local need and would bring a dual reward of revenue and thanks to a public service corporation. Can it not be done—even at the sacrifice of such additional expense to the corporation that the extra delivery would entail?

URGES AGAINST FOOLISH LAWS

(By The Associated Press.)
ROANOK, Va., April 25.—Urging the business men to take up for the railroad of the country and to talk against foolish laws, the Roanoke Railroad Association today held a public hearing on the subject of foolish laws which would result in a loss of transportation instead of a gain. Samuel M. Vaulain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, pointed out the last lap of a foolish law which would result in a loss of transportation instead of a gain. He said that the Roanoke Railroad Association today held a public hearing on the subject of foolish laws which would result in a loss of transportation instead of a gain. The banker had been in poor health for some time.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By Stanley

Drakes Branch, April 27.—(Associated Press.)—Table of The Man and the Big Idea: In the small but prosperous hamlet of Goatshead, a certain Sapp worked in the local Pie Foundry for a number of years. This Sapp had large ideas in a small Cranium. He had an Obsession. Away back in his home he had the Belief that Some Day he would think out a real Clever Scheme that would make him Affluent overnight. For years, and then some, he worked away at the same old job, while all around him other fellows were getting ahead. One of his fellows, a fellow named Tart, had brought him fame and considerable Fortune. Another Lad discovered a new way to cook Cookies, and so on, all his erstwhile Companions found out something or the other of the ordinary, and by devoting their spare time to the idea they managed to pick out a pretty fair Living.

PLANT IN FALL
RATHER THAN IN THE SPRING

By LAURA M. WHEELWRIGHT
It is a pity that the "Garden Uproar" which was born in all human beings with their first birthday in the Garden of Eden does not manifest itself in the spring but in the fall. It is the original impulse seeks expression and old and young feel a longing to possess a garden of color and glory and begin to dig and plant.

Unfortunately for them the man-made successful garden does not just happen, but requires thought and planning far in advance. For this reason these first trials at gardening by the average amateur are apt to be failures and this first valuable enthusiasm sickens and dies along with the badly selected seeds and plants put in a badly prepared soil.

Plant in the Autumn.
It is the autumn rather than the spring that the best planting is done in our climate. No matter what the garden is to be small or large, just a border, a city garden, suburb or country estate—the wise person will first plan, then plant. Much wasted effort and great disappointment will be saved.

If an amateur and inexperienced gardener consult someone versed in landscape or garden design; if the place is large the entire plan need not be carried out at once; but when completed you will have developed the kind of garden you want and the whole will be consistent and united.

Test Soil First.
As to the plant material, there is a tendency now to choose the plants which suit your soil rather than expend so much time and labor on creating a new soil to suit each plant.

acid soil loving plants, shade loving plants, plants for sunny borders, and those that love lime and feed heavily. First test the soil then choose the plant. This is nature's way of making a garden, the winds and the birds and the streams carry the seeds in multitudes over fields, mountains and valleys; they scatter and each takes root where the conditions are most congenial to its fullest development; the others falling on uncongenial soil are crowded out and perish.

Don't, however, turn all over to experts. If you want your garden as an outward expression of yourself, reflecting your personality, which it undoubtedly should do, it must be the product of your thought and love or it will break more to the designer and head gardener, or whomever has given it creation than the owner.

The landscape architect, the scientist in soils and plants, the gardener are merely the instruments by the aid of which you carry out your own ideas to a successful result.

WINDOWLESS AGE
NOW PREDICTED

CLEVELAND, April 26.—The downtown building as well as the factory of the near future is destined to be without windows, and to depend upon artificial means for light and pure air, according to officials of the Neil Park Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company here.

"Interior lighting for every working purpose has been perfected to a stage where it even surpasses daylight," said Dr. Matt Luckiesh, of the laboratory.

According to Dr. Luckiesh, preliminary findings in the research work have demonstrated that daylight actually costs more to factories, office buildings, museums and public buildings than electric illumination. "We congratulate ourselves on our first sunlight," said Dr. Luckiesh, "yet we pay dearly for it. In the first place, buildings securing most of their illumination through window panes show a heavy ledger item for replacement of glass and general maintenance of cleaning, as well as for sills and window frames."

"Secondly, we have discovered by actual tests that in a large number of buildings the loss of heat is 25 percent over that in buildings having no windows."

"Thirdly, there is the tremendous cost incidental to the fading of decorations and the cost of removing the large quantities of dirt and soot that blots in through windows each day."

"Probably the greatest costs to factories and public buildings, however, lies in the ground areas given over to the support of window shafts. Besides the initial cost of this property, usually a total waste, the taxes expended in keeping it clear for daylight each year is staggering."

Ventilation in windowless buildings, Dr. Luckiesh says, can be obtained free of all dirt and soot and with purified air from artificial vents.

DEFENDANTS ARE RECOGNIZED BY
FLOGGED WOMEN

(By The Associated Press)
LIMBERTON, N. C., April 26.—Identification of three defendants by one of the complaining witnesses and of one by the other complaining witness marked the opening here today of the recorder's hearing for B. M. Lawson, Julie Brogren, and John Hodgepeith, who are charged with burglary and conspiracy growing out of the alleged kidnapping and flogging of Mrs. Mattie Purvis and Mrs. Mary Watson by a band of masked men, near Proctorville two weeks ago.

Mrs. Purvis testified that she recognized the three defendants as members of the band while Mrs. Watson testified that she recognized only Lawson.

Mrs. Purvis testified that they were removed from her house shortly after ten o'clock and after being flogged by the men they were left and had to walk home. The reason given for the flogging was that she accused of robbing a disorderly house, an accusation which she denied.

Mrs. Watson testified that her husband told her the morning after the flogging is alleged to have been administered that they got what they deserved and she said her husband talked too much about her and was continually "running her down."

Several witnesses testified to having seen the masked band and three of Mrs. Purvis corroborated her story as to what occurred at the house and also that they recognized two of the men.

The defense will present its case tomorrow.

RELIEF FOR INDIGESTION

New Cordial Called "Anti-Ferment." Originated by a Druggist and Recommended by Physicians. Neutralizes Acid Condition of Stomach, Prevents Fermentation and Brings Instant Relief.

MONEY BACK IF YOU ARE NOT PROMPTLY RELIEVED

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, sour stomach, gripping pains, dysentery, diarrhoea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are almost directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs.

The food soon before it is fully digested, thus putting into solution toxic poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, you simply have to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment.

Don't Spoil Your Child's Hair By Washing It.

When you wash your child's hair be careful what you use. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. Two or three teaspoons of Mulsified water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified—adv.

Yes, hundreds of thousands of them are. This applies to the housewife and mother who struggles on a small income to make both ends meet by doing all the washing, cooking, mending and mending for a large family. These are the women who break down early and are afflicted with various forms of female weakness. Ninety-eight out of every 100 women who have tried Lydia E. DEFENSE OUTLINES CASE IN TRIAL OF THOS. W. MORSE

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Morse trial was halted for an hour and a half today for private conference between counsel and Justice Stafford, the subject of which was reported to have been whether one of the jurors sitting in the case should be disqualified and a mistrial ordered. So far as appeared the question was left undetermined. Some of the counsel for the defense indicated that a motion for a mistrial might be made tomorrow.

The conferences began immediately after court was convened and continued for more than a quarter of an hour. Meantime rumors of some development of possibly a startling character swept around the court room. After further discussion with the attorneys who had been conferring together, Justice Stafford dismissed the jury for an hour and the conferences were continued outside the courtroom.

There was an air of expectancy among the spectators as court was reconvened but the trial proceeded after Justice Stafford had asked each juror in turn whether he had read or knew the substance of an editorial appearing yesterday in a local newspaper and discussing the sick plea of Harry F. Morse, one of the defendants. The jurors replied in the negative.

Resuming his oral presentation of the defense case to the jury, begun yesterday, Attorney Nash Rockwood of New York, declared the evidence would show that the operations of the Emergency Fleet Corporation constituted "if not one of the greatest scandals in history, at least one of the greatest exhibitions of inefficiency in history." He added that the defense expected to put all the facts on the table no matter whom they might hit.

Mr. Rockwood declared that the delays in ship delivery by the Morse concerns about which the government had complained were due to "red tape" in the fleet corporation, the confused records of that corporation, delay in the making of progress payments, changed in plans of the ships under construction even after they were completed, and the inefficiency of many of the corporation's employees.

As an illustration of what ship builders were confronted with during the war, Mr. Rockwood asserted that the launching of a steel ship at the Morse's Croton Corp. plant was delayed for some time because an inspector for the fleet corporation had reported that the water in the Thames River was not of sufficient specific gravity to float the vessel. He related that Charles W. Morse eventually launched the ship on his own responsibility although warned in "the sovereign name of the United States" not to do so.

Counsel declared that the evidence would show that Mr. Morse's first act after war was declared was to call together the board of directors of his Noank, Conn., wooden ship plant and offer the use of the plant to the government. The government sought to obtain the benefit of his practical experience in ship building, Mr. Rockwood declared. He added that Mr. Morse had cancelled the contracts for four wooden ships without cost to the government and "charged off his personal losses to patriotism."

When the government abandoned the wooden ship program and decided to concentrate on steel ships, its officials again sought out Mr. Morse. Mr. Rockwood continued, with a result that the Croton plant was constructed and the contract let for the building of twelve ships there. Later he was asked to build a second plant and did so at Alexandria, Va. Counsel declared the books of the plants were open at all times to government inspectors and were inspected frequently.

Turning to the employment by Mr. Morse of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury and other counsel, Mr. Rockwood said the idea was that Mr. Morse should be well guided in the execution of the contracts with the government. The attorney added that he followed direction of counsel throughout. One point stressed by Mr. Rockwood was that the contracts awarded to Mr. Morse were on lump sum amounts for each ship to be built and not a cost plus basis. He asserted that with the exception of the initial "contract payments" of ten per cent. on each craft there was nothing in the contracts as to how the money should be spent and argued that this was not a subject of concern to the government so long as the ships were delivered.

Original Pages Of Poe's Poetry

(By The Associated Press) RICHMOND, Va., April 26.—Several original sheets of Poe manuscripts were deposited in the museum of the Edgar Allan Poe Shrine here today, the ceremony featuring the first annual exercises commemorating the dedication of the shrine. The gift, announced as "an indefinite loan" of the priceless papers was made by Merrill Griswold of Cambridge, Mass., on behalf of himself, Roger and Ann Griswold, grandchildren of the Rev. Rufus W. Griswold, Poe's first editor and biographer.

The collection included original manuscripts of Poe's autobiography, "The Light House," "Silence," a letter to Thomas W. White under date of July 20, 1825, a criticism of Henry B. Hirst and numerous notes on the story "Hans Pfaill."

The autograph "Edgar A. Poe" scribbled in several interesting forms, appears on many of the sheets. A number of letters from Poe admirers throughout the country including one from President Harding which paid tribute to the poet, were read by Roosevelt Page. The president said he had long been "particularly devoted admirer of the literary productions of the Poe genius" and had much satisfaction in recent years in the "universal recognition that has come to this American master of good English."

Armistead C. Gordon, of Staunton, former rector of the University of Virginia, paid a beautiful tribute to Poe, declaring that "the eager spirits" have made, the Poe shrine "to be always a hallowed spot." Mr. Gordon concluded:

"No nobler tribute to culture, to a love of the finer things of literature and life, to high imaginings and to nourishing of a 'divine fire' in the souls of men at a time of world materialism, is to be discovered on this western continent than here, where is set, like a beacon on a hill, a mecca of lofty minds dedicated to the immortal memory of him whose fame—

"Is known to every star
"And every wind that blows"

The unveiling of the tablet erected to the memory of Mrs. Stannard, the inspiration of Poe's beautiful "Helen" has been indefinitely postponed.

PROBE OF DEATH ASKED BY POST

(By The Associated Press) MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 26.—An investigation into the circumstances of the death of Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth, who is reported to have died in a Florida lumber camp where he had been leased after conviction of a minor offense, was asked in a resolution unanimously adopted by Memphis Post Number 1, American Legion here tonight.

The resolution characterizes the allegations that Tabert died after floggings by a "whipping boss," as "shocking" and severest prosecution is demanded.

ATHENS, April 26.—Greece's army, navy and police will no longer be under foreign tutelage. For reasons of economy the government has decided to abrogate its contracts with the British naval mission, the French military mission, and the Italian police mission, granting their members six months' pay in lieu of notice.

The only mission remaining in Greece now is the British police mission, under Sir Frederick Halliday, which has been here since 1919 and has done good work in reorganizing the Greek police on the lines of the London police force. The government's decision will be a severe blow to the foreign naval and military missions, whose members drew not only salaries from their own countries, but from the Greek government as well.

The human machine gets its life power from the brain, from which it is dispatched through the spinal cord over the nervous system to every cell in the body. IN MOST ALL CASES THIS POWER IS WEAK BECAUSE OF PRESSURE ON A NERVE WHERE IT LEAVES THE SPINE.

PACIFIC COAST
STRIKE SPREADS

(By The Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 26.—The Industrial Workers of the World general strike in the Pacific Coast states spread to longshoremen and transport workers at San Pedro, Calif., today and it was reported 1,500 men had quit work there. In Oregon it was said the strike had not gained new adherents, but in Washington indications were that it had caused additional workers to leave their jobs.

Figures compiled by the Local Union of Longshoremen and Lumbermen in Seattle showed 3,000 men out. These principally were loggers. A few hundred longshoremen are included in the strikers but few if any lumber mill workers.

Mr. Dwire Pleads
For Interest In Mass Education

Henry R. Dwire, of Winston-Salem, N. C., member of its progressive board of education and editor of the "Twin-City Sentinel," last night at the Risch Park auditorium made a thoughtful and forceful appeal for a larger recognition of the mission of public education in a democracy. He particularly appealed to this city and generally to all cities to take a broader vision, a more inclusive prospect of the future whereby they might and must realize the pre-eminent importance of an educated electorate and citizenship.

The address was under the auspices of the Risch Park Parent-Teacher Association and the audience was made up in the main of well known citizens of liberalized views on public education. Superintendent of Schools, W. C. Griggs presided and presented Herbert M. Martin who presented the speaker.

Mr. Dwire after a few introductory pleasantries and references to his former visits to Danville, addressed himself seriously to his theme. He is proudly proud of the strides Winston-Salem has made in its provision of splendid modern educational plants and of the progressive methods introduced into the schools there and quite naturally summarized some of the substantial things done by the citizens. Laying down the proposition that the cost of education is the price of democracy, he amplified the idea of its value as a protection against lawlessness and made an impressive presentation of this phase of his subject. The positive effect of education in dollars and cents through the increased capacity for service it afforded the masses of the people. He cited as among its by-products of the first importance its conspicuous work in the production of leadership in a community; its influence in developing initiative; its inestimable service in the development and promotion of patriotism and its larger aspect in the stimulation of popular vision and the widening of the scope of a thinking people.

Mr. Dwire pleaded for the education of all the people and in this connection touched briefly upon the possibilities of evil which flow from the existence of even one uneducated person. He cited the large sums being continuously expended in the provision and maintenance of jails, of courts, of reformatories and of the various liabilities resultant from lack of respect of education opportunity. As universal public education approximates realization, such expenditures by reason of the derelicts and the defective or dependents are gradually being minimized and a saving made which cannot be estimated in terms of money alone.

Turning to the practical problem of the growing cost of universal public education, he countered the question of the man without vision who asks "Can we afford it?" with the question can we afford to do without it?

In the concluding portion of his address Mr. Dwire contrasted the hopeless attitude of the skeptic without vision who contended that a thing can't be done with a concrete illustration taken from the experience of his own home city in which the people had demonstrated that it can be done, so far as the provision of ample, first-class school plants, the stimulation of public interest in the realization of the obvious advantages of education and in the elevation of the standards of education and a broader conception of its scope and aims. He closed with a portrayal of the city of the future as he visualized it through the lens of education stimulating higher moral standards, increasing her capita wealth and popular content through larger earning capacity, and developing a willingness to pay taxes as a means and opportunity of contributing to the public welfare.

The speaker was given close attention and was warmly commended by many for his forceful presentation of a problem which is facing this and every other city.

PARIS SHOWS LATEST MODES
IN HER EVENING FROCKS

(Special to The Bee.)

It is on her evening frocks that the Parisienne shows all the latest fanciful details of the mode.

The bustle, for instance, is seen oftenest on evening gowns. It is not the bustle of our grandmothers, but a large bow of ribbon or a rippled drape or some such slight matter.

Drapes, too, are essential parts of every French evening gown—especially the front drape which is Egyptian and the side drapes which are Calot.

A very wide hipline is another new effect much sought for. It is achieved by loops of lace or ribbon on each side.

DANCERS DRAG
WEARY SELVES
OVER THE FLOOR

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., April 26.—Sleepy and tired from some of its jazz during the day when the continued stepping to music which lost some of its jazz during the day when the orchestra wavered on the brink of exhaustion, twenty contestants in the local dance marathon scraped wearily over the coliseum floor tonight, intent upon breaking the newest world's record of 109 hours and 46 minutes, established today at Dallas, Texas.

Three couples who started in the contest yesterday at noon, crossed the 36 hour line at midnight, apparently in good condition. J. A. McKinney, the Washington plumber, who entered yesterday afternoon and who is dancing alone for the cash prize which he says he needs, was going strong tonight.

The dancers were given solid food last night and today, but the management announced tonight that beginning tomorrow only liquids would be served.

UNITY SCHOOL NOTES

On Tuesday evening there was a meeting of the Unity school league, held in the school auditorium. The first thing on the program was a sale of pie donated by the ladies of the community for which we realized eighteen dollars, and the amount went to the plane fund, which is growing rapidly.

After the sale of pie a report was made by Mr. Smith in behalf of the league, which showed that the work was really worth while.

SUIT AGAINST
LINSEED OIL
TRUST ARGUED

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—The government suit against linseed oil manufacturers brought under the Sherman anti-trust law was argued in the Supreme Court today, the attack being directed at the Armstrong Bureau of Related Industries. The government contended the organization occupied relatively the same position in the linseed oil industry as the American Column and Lumber Company did in the hardwood industry, which the Supreme Court held to be unlawful.

The linseed oil manufacturers, council for the government argued through the Armstrong Bureau, had organized a council at which trade conditions, including prices, were discussed, the outcome of which was a restraint of interstate commerce. The bureau had placed no restraint upon interstate commerce but was a trade organization for the benefit of the manufacturers, furnishing information which was neither intended nor used to bring about an unlawful combination. That view was taken by the federal district court at Chicago which decided against the government.

FORD INSPECTS
SITE FOR PLANT

(By The Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Minn., April 26.—Henry Ford came to St. Paul today to look over the site his engineers have chosen for the automobile manufacturing plant he is to erect on the Mississippi River here.

"The finest piece of ground in the country for my purposes" he said after he had viewed the site, which is at the government dam, whose power has been awarded to the Ford Company.

Mr. Ford said he would have $4,000,000 plant employing 3,000 men, in operation here next January 1. Mr. Ford denied he contemplated purchase of a railroad in this section or intended buying a newspaper.

The jail was stormed by a mob which shot Sheriff P. M. Hagan through the hand and riddled the jail structure with bullets.

Your Horses' Teeth
Can't Be Repaired

When your horse's teeth go bad he can't chew his food properly—so he bolts it. The oats slip through the teeth with the hulls unbroken, and the corn is not sufficiently ground. The digestive juices cannot act on the grains, and they pass through the body undigested and wasted. 15% of the oats fed is often lost in this way.

Feed your horses and mules Tuxedo Chop—the balanced ration. The oats are rolled, the corn crushed. It contains just those food elements which the horse requires, in the most easily digested and assimilated form.

Stop waste and keep your horses healthy by feeding Tuxedo chop. The Tuxedo Primer tells how. Let us send you a copy.

Greate Harmony Needed In Ranks Of Amateur Authorities

BY WALTER CAMP
(Copyright, 1934, By The Bee)

(By Special Licensed Wire to The Bee)

NEW YORK, April 27.—It is becoming more and more obvious every day that American amateur athletic authorities must very shortly show a better get-together spirit and develop more harmony of action or the United States will inevitably suffer in the coming athletic contests with other nations at the Olympic games.

There are as many different ideas regarding the wisdom or otherwise of preventing our athletes from competing abroad between now and the Olympics as there are athletes who want to do this thing. The unfortunate part is that schisms are very likely to develop and result in conflicts of authority. Such a situation easily could in turn resolve itself into a demoralizing contest of power for authority.

Princeton, at this writing, looks decidedly better than Yale or Harvard in baseball promise this season. Yale seems to be going back. But this condition, so far, is still a thing that can be overcome. The Blue nine has one asset which is most promising—a willingness and ability to hit the ball at opportune times. The pitching staff, however, has not improved as rapidly as had been hoped. Princeton, too, is hitting well. Harvard, however, seems to be an in and out nine up to date. Perhaps the weather is one of a factor than usual this year with all the college nines this year, and that in the course of the coming week the teams will settle down to proper levels of strength and power.

In connection with the visit of the American Team abroad under Bob Gardner, it is particularly interesting at this stage of the game to rehearse the fact that this same Bob Gardner up to date has been the one who has been really coming near winning the British Amateur Championship, except Walter Travis. He went through to the finals at Muirfield and there met Cyril Tolley.

Gardner had won two amateur championships on this side of the water was thirty years old and with his experience, and the fact that he is one of the hardest, as well as one of the pleasantest fighters on the links.

had steadily come through, beating his men and getting better and better. On the way through he met Gordon Lockhart, one of the most fancied of the Prestwick players, and the match was a desperate struggle.

Had evidently been harder on the veteran than on the younger Tolley, and Gardner cracked, so that going to the 15th hole with 4 holes remaining to play, Gardner was 3 down. Now this seems to be one of the favorite situations for Bob. Many a time he has been down and then struck one of those unbeatable steaks which completely unnerves his opponent. Gardner went right at his man and squared the match on the 16th hole. They then went to the first hole, which is a little over two hundred yards. Gardner with the honor put his tee shot within 9 yards of the pin. It was a magnificent shot, and even the British gallery felt that it would take a wonderful effort on Tolley's part to get a half and hold on for another whole.

Tolley stepped up to the tee and placed his shot 5 yards inside of Gardner's, being only four yards from the pin. As the gallery marched down the course, excitement was intense. Gardner putted up within 2 feet of the hole and then Tolley walked up to his ball and in the deathly silence of the gallery sent the little white sphere plump into the hole for a glorious 2, the match and the Amateur Championship of Great Britain.

On the surface, a discussion of juvenile "suicide" in this column might seem to be inappropriate. But is it? Figures recently tabulated show that as against 477 juvenile suicides in 1919 there were 13,530 young men and women who took their lives in 1922. And among so-called "higher classes" there were 38 college students, 50 college professors, 12 preachers, 52 lawyers, 84 physicians and nearly 100 presidents of more or less large business concerns who killed themselves last year. It is perfectly probable that in half of these deplorable cases, unhappiness was at bottom, and is it theorizing too much to believe that this unhappiness directly or indirectly may not have been brought about by ill health which might have been prevented through proper and systematic exercise and outdoor play?

In the Medley Renwick, a good quarter miler, will carry the Oxford colors, while Stevenson, an old Princetonian, will run the half. Hewitson, the quarter and Milligan the captain, and a starting performer will wind up with the mile, which, under anything like favoring conditions he will negotiate well under four minutes and twenty seconds.

In the two-mile Stevenson, Hewitson and Milligan again run, the fourth man being Miller, a good half miler. Stevenson is reported as having been chosen by Captain Milligan as his anchor man. It is a good quartette and will take some beating.

Each leader, the New Haven crew, each is well-versed in the result of the California-Washington race at Oakland. It is added confirmation of the quality of the stroke he is introducing at New Haven, a stroke that, by the way, has been too much for some of the Blue veterans who are put out of the boat and replaced by new men. The fact that Leader has tried five different men at the stroke should not worry the old-time Yale crew men who are watching the experiment with interest for it is of course, absolutely essential to have an ideal man for the key position when a new method is introduced. Lindley possibly may be the man. He rowed in last year's freshman boat, but not as stroke and had had no previous experience.

Hughes Hit Hard; Danville Drops Game To Patriots

GREENSBORO, April 26.—Pitcher Hughes for Danville was hit hard and opportunely by the Patriots this afternoon and they trounced the visitors to the tune of 12 to 6. The locals hit Hughes for a dozen safeties which netted them as many runs. Errors on the part of Danville's aggregation also figured in the scoring. Lankeneau was also hit freely and was finally yanked after one was down in the seventh frame, he being replaced by O'Quinn. The Danvillians received ten hits but it netted them but six tallies.

Outfielder Regan for Danville was the batting star of the game, although Dorman, Trexler, Allison for the visitors and Pierre, Casey, Carroll, and Teague put in a good day with the willow. Regan batted a thousand, knocking out a homer and two doubles in three times at bat. Dorman hit safely twice in as many times at bat. Greensboro put up an errorless game, although there was no fielding feature on either side.

Raleigh Stages Rally In Ninth

RALEIGH, April 26.—Raleigh staged a rally in the ninth inning with one down and won this afternoon's game from Durham by the score of 4 to 3. When the final inning started the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors and after one man had been retired, the fan had begun to leave but a sudden batting rally of four singles netted the tying and winning run. It was a great ending from a local standpoint. The feature of the game was a triple play executed by the locals. Carvey had singled, Lennox attempted to sacrifice but the ball rolled through Dodson's legs and both runners were safe. Duncan hit a fly to short center. Both runners thinking it was a hit started for the next sack.

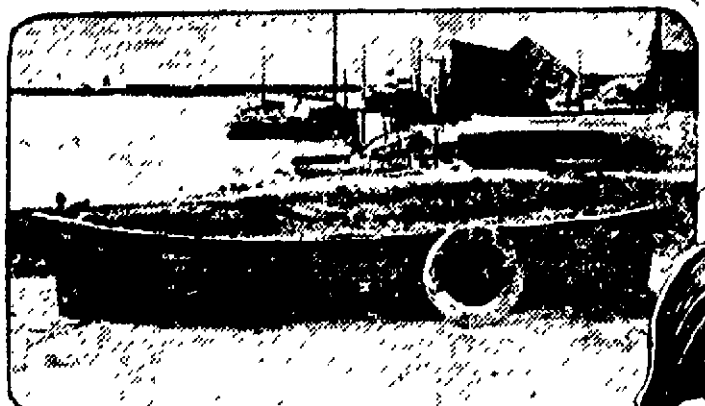

Lennox came in fast and caught the ball. Carvey had passed third and Lennox was around second. Dodson intercepted the ball to the plate but Carvey threw at Dodson, threw to Turner at second, and Turner returned the ball to Kearney. A general mix-up followed but three men were out when it was all over. The box score:

Piracy and Murder in Booze War

BY EDWARD THIERRY
(Special to The Bee)

NEW YORK, April 27.—Piracy and murder are writing pages picturesque and violent in the booze history of America. No complete statistics are available of this growing crime phase, yet thrill-surpassing fiction are found even in a brief and casual survey.

Smugglers, pirates, "hi-jackers," gunmen, bootleggers and bandits today furnish battle, blood and color not to be found between the covers of yesterday's dime novels.

THIRTY-THREE federal agents have been killed since enforcement began, not counting police and other city, county and state officers.

Booze directly or indirectly killed 72 persons in New York in the first four months of 1933, according to records of the medical examiner's office, that's more than four deaths a week. Fights with the law and internal feuds have cost the lives of many bootleggers and rum runners. Unlisted numbers have died of poisonous liquors. When a body is found, the specter of booze hangs prominently over the mystery of the killing.

Disaster has overtaken schooners, motor boats, airplanes and automobiles smuggling liquor; explosions of stills and barrels and wherever booze have caused damage by fire and menaced lives, hundreds of automobiles have been stolen, wrecked and deserted.

HERE'S a fortnight's characteristic booze. Five men murdered, five drowned, one burned to death, one driven insane, two wounded, nine mysteriously missing.

Those two April weeks began with a story of piracy from Vineyard Haven, Mass. Eight bodies were washed ashore after a battle at sea, noisy enough to be heard at the distant Gay Head life saving station. The pirates' vessel got away in the fog but the steamer John Dwight, loaded with bottled ale, sank after her boilers had blown up.

One of the victims was burned and mutilated. Three appeared to have been clubbed to death. The other four were drowned.

PIRATES were blamed also for the mystery shrouding the fate of the members of the crew of the schooner Patricia M. Beman, found with sails set and anchor dragging in Great South Bay, Long Island.

Decks had been splintered by bullets and were littered with cartridges. Cabins were in disorder, as if captain and crew had left hurriedly. Were they carried away or driven into the sea? Empty whisky cases and burlap sacks were found in the looted hold and a notebook showed notations of sales of 3,918 packages of liquor. There was a case to a package, it seemed, at $48 or $50 a case, or some $190,000 worth of booze.

THE same week a Concord, N. H., automobile dealer was shot and killed in his home during an argument over the ownership of an automobile which he had taken as security, when he paid the fines of two convicted rum runners in 1921.

Two other violent deaths occurred in a single day. A New York man was shot to death and a Savannah, Ga., man was drowned when he leaped into the river after being captured in a liquor-laden automobile. A duel between river pirates quarreling over liquor from ocean liners is believed over the steering wheel of a motor boat sliding slowly down the Hudson river.

DURING the same two weeks a Long Island man was found insane from exposure, after drifting at sea with two others in a launch loaded with 53 cases of whisky. Two men were wounded, one shot four times, during a quarrel among bootleggers in Brooklyn and Bridgeport. Police reported 310 stolen automobiles still unclaimed of some 400 picked up by Connecticut state police since January and most said to have been used by rum runners.

RIVER pirates, afloat in motor boats scooting in and out among the piers in every port along the Atlantic seaboard, have been responsible for even more killings and battle than rum pirates who sail the 12-mile limit.

Ocean liners tied at piers and cargo ships anchored in harbors are the pirates' prey. A fatal duel in the Hudson river was the latest of many scrimmages; previously there was a murder in a New York harbor smuggling plot, another when detectives descended upon a pirates' looting ship at Hoboken, a battle in a Florida port when one gang betrayed another to government agents, a pistol fight in which 20 men were seized as they boarded a schooner in New York Bay, and a gun fight when pirates attacked a rum runner in a New Jersey port.

WANT to read of death, piracy and fighting?

Thumb the newspaper files. This is a sample taste picked at random: New York saloonkeeper killed in a quarrel with dry agent, liquor-laden ship wrecked on fight from Canada; Ohio dry agent murdered; pirates loot rum schooner driven ashore at Montauk Point, L. I.; New Yorkers murder in bootleggers' controversy; sea battle between hydroplane and liquor boat. Here's the total: 11 persons killed eight gun fights three acts of piracy, and four wrecks.
